To bring a 50-cent freight train to a stop from a speed of 30 miles an hour, it takes 100 feet to stop. That is the equivalent of its running 2.4 miles. An average cost of freight train operation by selected accounts is shown to be $2.12 per mile. From the above it is readily seen that the railroad assumes a cost of $6.00 for each unnecessary stop made by an average freight train.

LOWER RAIL RATE HOPE EXPRESSED BY COMMISSION

NOT YET STABILIZED AFTER WAR. IS ASSERTION REPORT FINANCES

Net Earnings of Roads Not Yet 6 Percent, Congress Told

Washington—Hope is expressed by the Interstate Commerce commission in its annual report Thursday to Congress, that a "substantially lower" level of railroad rates and fares would be possible, with an exceptional volume of traffic following the present business depression.

The commission says, because of the depression of operating costs in harmony with prevailing tendencies, "freight rates, following war time increases and some later readjustments, have not yet reached an equilibrium, the commission says, because the chief factors controlling them, 'the value of service and the cost of transportation, still are in a state of flux.'

Report to Oct. 31.
The commission's report is for the year ended Oct. 31. It discloses that a total of $430,000,000 has been ordered paid to the railroad carriers during the year, against losses during the first six months after their return to private ownership and there is still due an estimated $105,000,000 on this account.

Out of 67 carriers entitled to guarantee payments, the commission says, 54 have filed claims, totaling $115,000,000, but payments of only $36,000,000 have been made justified by the commission.

Statement was made with respect to the difference between the roads' own summary of their losses during the six months and the government's findings. "The roads which have not yet filed claims for losses," the report adds, "are short lines and the total will be 'relatively small'."

Refunding Operations.
In its capacity as supervisor of railroad capital issues, the commission is issued during the year certificates of refunding to issue bonds and bonds to a total of $1,715,000,000, the report says. The commission "points out, however, that this total represented for the great part refunding operations not involving new and increased investment."

Discussing railroad earnings, the commission says the carriers' income and expenses reflected the unsettled industrial conditions, and the net earnings have not yet reached a rate of 6 percent on the value of the properties determined for the United States as a whole. The six percent net earnings rate is that recognized by Congress in the transportation act as a fair return on the invested value.

Reconsideration Asked.
In its recommendations, the commission asks Congress to reconsider section 28 of the merchant marine act, authorizing preferential rail rates on shipments of commodities for export or import, and to provide that the ultimate effect "may be merely to divert traffic from certain ports to others with little or no gain in earnings for U. S. vessels."

Operation of this section of the law has been suspended by agreement between the shipping, board, and the commission.

Other recommendations of the commission are:

Enactment of a law providing for the punishment of any person offering or giving a bribe to an employee of a carrier with intent to influence his action or with respect to car service, and providing for the punishment of the guilty employee.

That the use of steel cars in the passenger service be continued and that the use in passenger trains of wood on cars between or in front of steel cars be prohibited.

Amendment of the interstate commerce act so as to clarify the provisions whether and, if so, how voluntary consolidations of carriers may be effected pending ultimate adoption by the commission of a complete plan of consolidation.

CERTIFICATION OF TEACHERS IS URGED
Madison—Certification of high school teachers and the need for more strict qualifications before secondary school teaching permits are granted in Wisconsin, were considered by the joint conference of state educational boards at their meeting here yesterday afternoon. Speakers pointed out that hundreds of high school teachers in Wisconsin had not completed either normal school or university courses, and that apparently they were not qualified to teach the subjects which they were at present teaching.

A conference committee will be appointed to study the entire question of certification, and to submit a report to a later meeting of the boards.

WINTER LOCKS UP THE MIGHTY YUKON

One of World's Greatest Streams Main Traveled
Alaskan Highway.

The closing of the Yukon river to navigation because of ice, noted in a press dispatch late in October, serves the purpose of bringing attention to the attention of stay-at-home Americans one of the greatest of their rivers, which to the majority is probably little more than a name, and of warning of the southward thrust of the icy fingers of winter which will soon grasp the shores and straits of the Great Lakes, says a bulletin from the National Geographic Society.

The Yukon, despite the general failure to recognize it as such, is one of the great rivers of the world, and in length only second to the Mississippi. It is more than twenty-three hundred miles long and is both the longest and the largest river flowing into Pacific waters in the western hemisphere. It is surpassed in length only by the Mississippi system and the Mackenzie. It is longer than the St. Lawrence as well as all the other rivers except the Mississippi system which flow into the Gulf of Mexico or the Atlantic.

Among World's Greatest Rivers
Though the discharge of the Yukon has not been accurately measured, it is its tremendous volume of water rather than its length that causes it to be ranked as a great river. It is of course, far outdistanced by the vast Amazon, greatest of rivers, and the Congo, which probably ranks second. But the Yukon has been estimated to have three-fourths of the volume of discharge of the Mississippi, and if this estimate be accurate the stream which it pours into the sea is probably among the half dozen greatest in the world.

To Alaska, heretofore having no highway of steel into its interior, the Yukon has been in the past the cause of the shallow bars at its mouth, ocean steamers cannot enter the river; but at the harbor of St. Michael, just north of the mouth, freight boats, tugboats, and stern-wheel river steamers which ascend the stream not only throughout the breadth of Alaska, but for several hundred miles into Canada.

Sever Distinct by Boat
The Yukon, flowing through Alaska roughly from east to west, divides the territory into northern and southern halves. Large cities along the banks of the river and its tributaries as well as at considerable distances from the stream can thus be served by freight boats. The principal objectives of the river steamers, however, are Dawson, on the Yukon, about sixty miles in Canada, and more than thirteen hundred miles from the mouth, and Fairbanks, the "metropolis" of interior Alaska, near the head of navigation on the Tanana, a tributary of the Yukon.

The Yukon is an international river, rising nearly five hundred miles within Canadian territory, and sweeping in a great arc to the north and east. Although the river is more than two thousand miles long, one of its sources, a small lake, is within twenty-five miles of the salt water to which it makes such a roundabout journey.

Never Was Known
The existence of such a large river as the Yukon in the far north was long unsuspected. A Russian lieutenant, Zagoskin, entered at its mouth by boat in 1842 and traversed it for several hundred miles. The Hudson Bay company had discovered its headwaters in Canada; but the two bits of information were not pieced together. The existence of the river as a stream of great magnitude and length first became really known through the daring and romantic project of installing land telegraph wires between America and Europe across Alaska, Behring Strait and the wastes of Siberia. Robert Kennicott, in connection with this enterprise, blazed the Yukon trail by descending the river in 1895. The first trading steamer ascended the stream in 1895. The Yukon really came into its own with the discovery of gold in the Klondike in 1896.

Unknown Rivers
The Yukon is not alone in being a great river that remained in comparative obscurity because of its far northern situation. Just to the east the Mackenzie—a stream of hardly less magnitude—which is now also beginning to feel the throttling grip of frost, flowed almost unnoticed through a little-known wilderness until the discovery of oil along its banks brought it into the limelight. And in the eastern hemisphere three rivers, worthy to be classed among the mightiest streams of the earth—the Ob, the Volga and the Lena—pour hundreds of thousands of gallons of water into the Arctic each second in a mighty but losing battle against the congealing power of cold.

Sharon—The fire department was called out Thursday forenoon to the school house when the roof caught fire from sparks from the chimney. It was put out with chemicals and but slight damage was done. A packed house greeted the pupils of the grades and high school at their entertainment given Wednesday night at the school house. Each grade had part in the program as well as the high school students. After the program the different rooms were visited and each room had an exhibit of the work being done. The W. M. F. S. of the M. E. church met Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. A. D. Lowell. The lesson was in charge of Mrs. W. C. Klayton. Mrs. August Bohman and daughter who have been visiting relatives for the past few weeks returned Wednesday to their home at Glenn Mich. Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Davis were called to Delavan Tuesday by the death of his aunt, Mrs. Francis Sizer. Mrs. Floyd Blackely and son Harold, are visiting her mother, Mrs. R. E. Rector. Miss Anna Kinna is visiting in Chicago with her sister, Mrs. Will Harris and husband. Tom James returned Wednesday after a ten day stay at the Janesville hospital where he submitted to an operation for appendicitis.

To Relieve Catarrh, Catarrhal Deafness And Head Noises

Persons suffering from catarrhal deafness, or who are growing hard of hearing and have head noises will be glad to know that this distressing affliction can usually be successfully treated at home by an internal medicine which in many instances has effected complete relief after other treatments have failed. Sufferers who could scarcely hear or could not hear at all, have been restored to such an extent that the tick of a watch was plainly audible seven or eight inches away from their ear. Therefore, if you know of someone who is troubled with head noises or catarrhal deafness, cut out this formula and hand it to them and you may have been the means of saving some poor sufferer perhaps from total deafness. The prescription can be prepared at home and is made as follows:

Secure from your druggist 1 oz. Parmin (Double Strength). Take this home and add to it 1/2 pint of hot water and a little granulated sugar, stir until dissolved. Take one tablespoonful four times a day. Rub your ear with this only to reduce by tonic action the inflammation and swelling in the Eustachian tube and thus to equalize the air pressure on the drum, but to correct any excess of secretions in the middle ear, and the results it gives are nearly always quick and effective. Every person who has catarrh in any form of distressing running, itching, or in their ears should give this recipe a trial. Advertisement.

Prin. F. J. Lowth stated Friday: The conference will open at 9:30 Saturday morning and end close at 3:30 p. m.

Seek National Fuel For Autos in France

Paris—A "national fuel" for automobiles and internal combustion engines, that will make France less dependent upon other countries for gasoline, is being sought by government and private laboratories. Many tests with denatured alcohol and benzol added in small quantities to gasoline have given good results.

A week of competition with various formulas will be held at Beziers in February, 1932. Private interests have contributed 400,000 francs to the fund for these tests. Another fund of a like amount has been made available by parliament for laboratory and road tests under the supervision of a parliamentary commission.

Alcohol is available in France from sugar beets, principally, but it is planned to develop other sources of supply. So far it has not been found that there is any great economy in using alcohol, but it is believed that, with increased use, the alcohol industry might produce at lower prices. The principal advantage sought in the national fuel, however, is independence of foreign oil supplies. During the war there were at times dangerous

ASKS ADJUSTMENT OF POSTAL RATES

Service First, However, Admission of Hays in Annual Report.

[By Associated Press.] Washington—Pointing to continuing deficits in his department, Postmaster General Hays, in his first annual report to the president, made public Friday, declares that "if the present state of expenditures shall continue there should be such a readjustment of postage rates as well, together with the effects of increasing volume of business, produce sufficient revenue approximately to meet it."

Mr. Hays makes no specific recommendations as to the suggested adjustments, and declares emphatically that "if it were a question between the best practical service on the one hand, and a poorer service with revenue meeting cost, on the other hand, decision should be resolved in favor of rendering the service."

Revenues of the postal service for the fiscal year ended last June, Mr. Hays says, totaled $463,191,774, an increase of $66,100,000 over the receipts of the preceding fiscal year. Balanced against this were audited expenditures of $526,933,673 with the total audited deficiency at $157,517,688.

Expenditures Are Heavy The material increase in the deficiency over that for 1920, Mr. Hays states, is due to large increases of expenditures in two principal items without any corresponding increase in the revenues. The two principal items are $76,150,561 for increased compensation to railroads on the basis of an order of the Interstate Commerce commission, retroactive to Nov. 1, 1919, and $41,850,000 for added compensation allowed postal employees by congress.

Approving this added compensation the postmaster general tells the president that "the salaries provided by law for those in the department are too low to compensate those who continue in the service, or to attract and hold others of the ability required in the conduct of such an institution." Pointing to the inconsistencies in the salaries of employees in the department proper and those who serve in the field, Mr. Hays says they "emphasize the importance and necessity of immediate legislation to readjust the departmental salaries throughout."

Would Change Name The postmaster general also recommends legislation providing for the changing of the name of the department to "the department of communications," and to authorize him to collect a fee where directory service is given in postoffices to mail insufficiently or improperly addressed.

Fix a charge for a return receipt for registered articles.

IN TROUBLE AGAIN

Charles W. Morse.

The U. S. shipping board has announced it will seek an indictment of Charles W. Morse, the shipbuilder, and he will be brought back immediately from France, whether he went last week, traveling as "C. Morris." Mr. Morse built ships for the government during the war, and it is these contracts the grand jury will investigate. He was indicted last year in connection with the sale of an American ship to the government of Tunis, but the indictment was dismissed.

To restrict, within his discretion, the application of the special delivery service to first class mail matter.

To dispense with the surety bonds now required of officers and employees accountable for funds, funds or property used to submit bills for a guaranty fund established and maintained by assessments against such officers and employees.

To provide for the payment by the subscribers of postage on replies to advertising matter.

Mr. Hays also recommends service pensions for those who have been in the service more than 30 years and that Sunday and holiday be excluded from sick leave granted employees of the department and service.

Discussing briefly the detailing of marines to guard valuable mails in transit against "hold up" men, the postmaster general informs the president that there is being recruited from the department itself to take the place of the marines an armed guard as a permanent branch of the postal service.

Must Protect Mails "The United States mail must be protected down to the last postal card regardless of cost of personal sacrifice," Mr. Hays says. "It must be true that the mails may be late, but at the end of the fiscal year, Mr. Hays reports, there was a total of 2,188 postoffices, an increase of 2,221. First class offices numbered 749, an increase of 129; second class numbered 1,439, an increase of 164; third class 10,453, an increase of 2,259 and fourth class offices totaled 38,110. The average salaries of clerks was increased from $1,627 to $1,717 and of carriers from $1,521 to $1,607.

The postmaster general expresses a firm conviction in the duty of honestly applying the merit system, declaring that this should govern the appointment of postmasters.

"I am sure it is steadily growing in the mind of the 'public,' he says, "that if we are to have the most efficient postal service we must keep it as far as possible out of politics."

The rural mail service was extended during the year to more than 207 routes, of which 112 were established by the new administration, the report says. The total number of routes was 43,722, covering 1,163,896 miles and requiring annual travel of carriers of 53,538,313 miles. The cost of the service was $55,562,000.

Mails were carried over 10,664 star routes not traversed by rural carriers, the report continues, and at a cost of $21,607,000 and were carried over 10,053 miles of routes in Alaska.

Special arrangements have been made for improving the service in Alaska, the report adds, "by expediting the delivery of mails and meeting the special needs of the developing territory."

Mr. Hays calls attention to the cost of carrying and handling mails for the executive departments last year was $6,000,000, for which the department received nothing and he informs the president that it is the purpose to keep account of this in the future and credit the department in the statements of value of service rendered. The revenue which would have been derived at the regular postage rates from the free matter handled last year would have been $12,191,166, the report asserts.

Deposits in the postal savings banks during the year total $4,886,417, the report shows, the total on deposit on last June 30 being $152,389,303 as against $157,576,322 on June 30, 1920. The reduction of net deposits from the maximum amount held in March, 1919, was $94,438,621 and Mr. Hays says he has taken active steps to remedy the system and is conducting a vigorous campaign to popularize the system. He asserts that the interest rates are not high enough and that the depositor had been treated unfairly in the repayment of interest unless the deposit was left a full year.

Calling attention to economies effected in the department, Mr. Hays says $276,113 was saved through a readjustment of contracts with the publishers of stamped envelopes and newspaper wrappers. He also informs the president that important improvements in plans for purchasing have been made, resulting in large savings.

Other portions of Mr. Hays' report deal with his efforts to humanize the postal service and to enter the people's interest in its largest usefulness and efficiency.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

Editor Gazette: The good citizens of Janesville should rejoice that one of our politicians has been instrumental in giving a little house cleaning down there. Let the good work go on, there certainly should be no objection to that from any source. There is some where a quotation something to this effect, however, "That a prophet is not without honor save in his own country." It might not be a bad idea for "Be" to return the compliment to this community. According to all reports there is plenty of work to be done in the home field. And in these days when no outside stimulus anywhere is complete without some thing at prohibition or the Constitution.

GROCERS STOCK UP FOR HOLIDAY TRADE

Make Ready for Christmas Feasts—Egg Prices Still Climbing

Local grocery stores are stocking their shelves with all that will go to make the Christmas season one of feasts, as well as one of gifts.

Only a few southern fruits are now seen, with housewives buying a great deal of canned fruits of all kinds, preserves and canned vegetables, prices for which were prohibitive for canning in the summer. Many are finding it cheaper to buy canned fruit than to have put it up when it was in season. Apples are still as numerous as ever in the stores and take the predominance in fruits. The cooking variety sells 3 and 5 pounds for 25 cents. Greenings, 2 for 25 cents, while cooking apples range high as 5 and 10 cents each for the best, with others selling at 3 pounds for a quarter and by the dozen at 35 and 40 cents. California navel oranges sell for 50 and 70 cents a dozen, while Floridians are slightly higher. Grapefruit comes at two and three for a quarter and pineapples bring 35 cents each, being out of season and hard to keep. Keg grapes sell for 30 and 35 cents a pound, pears for 45 cents a dozen and bananas at 10, 12 and 14 cents a pound. Lemons bring 40 cents a dozen.

Oysters have dropped slightly, the very best, which were selling at $1 a quart, now coming at 80 cents for that quantity.

Cranberries, true to predictions, have again been boosted in price and now sell for 28 and 30 cents a pound, which grocers and consumers hope will be the top mark. Squash come at the same price that has prevailed all winter, 15 and 20 cents each, as do pumpkins, at 10 and 15 cents each. Carrots, cabbage and onions all sell for 4 cents a pound, celery brings 15 cents for a large bunch and leaf lettuce 30 cents a pound. Heads are 20 cents and higher. Sweet potatoes remain the same in price, 5 pounds for a quarter and 7 cents a pound, while the Irish potatoes come at 35 and 40 cents a peck. Butter has dropped two cents, now selling for 45 and 50 cents a pound, while eggs have become scarcer and have again gone up, this time to 58 and 62 and 68 cents a dozen, for the strictly fresh.

PLAN TAX PROBE

Madison—The state tax commission is preparing to send auditors into the field to investigate income tax returns of corporations for three years back. By January 1, six additional auditors will be probing into corporate reports, according to Carroll Atwood, member of the commission. Governor Blaine has made $10,000 available to the commission for the investigation work.

Heart and Home Problems

BY ELIZABETH THOMPSON.
Letters May be Addressed to Mrs. Thompson, in Care of the Gazette.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a girl of 18 summers and a freshman in high school. I am corresponding with a boy friend also 18. I have known him but five months. We went together often before I left home. He always tells me how he loves me; sometimes that is about all he writes in his letters. He gave me a sapphire ring the Sunday night before I left. I did not know he was going to give me one. He said he gave it to me just as a friend. Did I do right by taking it? He put it on my finger and told me if I didn't want it I could throw it away and we would quit.

I received a letter from him the other day and it almost made me sick. It had so much love in it. He never put anything vulgar in a letter and he has never talked of vulgar subjects, although he told me how he loves me. He wants me to promise him to be true to him for two years. What should I tell him?

I don't believe he loves me as he says, although I think I like him just as he is. I am telling you all this just to see how I will take it. He knows I am also, or at least I think so, for all the boys say I am too nice. He is sitting without making him angry. Please tell me how I can manage to keep him a friend and not a lover while he talks to me this way. Don't think I'm neglecting my studies on this boy's account, because I am not.

PEGGY.

I believe the boy is sincere in his love to you. You must be sincere too, and tell him that you like him, but you would rather have him write to you as a friend and wait two years before he mentions love. At the end of that time you will be able to judge better whether your love is deep and lasting. He should not have given you the ring. His motive, however, was good because he loved you and wanted to give you something nice. I would not advise you to return the ring now, keep it unless you and he have a falling out in which case it should be returned.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a girl 18 years of age and have a boy friend whom I love very much. He used to come to see me twice every week. He has gone to the city to work and does not come to see me any more, but he writes. He seems to work very hard and says he does not have any dates, but just asked me not to go with others, but I do not like to stay at home as he has no way to come to see me. Shall I go with other boys? He has said that after the first of the year he will have a lot of dates.

BILLY WHISKERS

BY FRANCES TREGG MONTGOMERY

"All you will have to do," said Button to Stubby, "is remember a little on the quiet until you find out what kind of a cook they have and whether there are any fierce dogs around. And if the cook is good natured and there are no dogs, go boldly up to the kitchen door, wag your tail, and you may have anything you want, for you know, you have such a talking way. Stubby, that no one could resist you."

"Let us lie down in this tall alfalfa and hide until dark," continued Billy, "and then go up to the house and look around." And the three lay down together in the tall alfalfa and dozed and rested their weary legs waiting for it to get dark.

"I wish you could eat this delicious clover," said Billy Jr. "It is most delicious, and is much sweeter and larger than the clover at home. They raise three crops out here, but these people have planted purposely for their bees, as it is said alfalfa, white clover and buckwheat make the best tasting honey. From the number of hives around here I guess this farmer makes a business of raising bees as well as oranges and lemons."

Just as he finished speaking Button got up and crept along in the high alfalfa for a short distance, then gave one spring and came down on a big fat field mouse, which he carried back and showed to Billy Jr. and Stubby, piping "hot!"

"No, thank you," said Billy Jr. "I don't care for hot mice." And Stubby shook his head in refusal of the offer of "small bread and butter," said Stubby, "and there must be some somewhere around here. The smell

PARKERS LEAVE ON 36,000 MILE TRIP

Foreign Trade Extension, Is Object of Journey Around World.

Circling the globe for a total distance of 36,000 miles to establish the foundation for an extended international trade on a Janesville-made product—Parker fountain pens and pencils—is the aim of George S. Parker, president of the company, who, with his wife and daughter, Virginia, left Friday for New York. They will leave for London on the Aquitania.

New branches are to be opened, trade extended to cover new territories from Europe south to the Mediterranean states, then to the ports of the Indian ocean, India, Java, China, Japan and other Pacific islands. Branches are to be opened in the interior districts of India and far off China provinces.

The itinerary shows the Parkers will land in London on December 20, and 12 conditions warrant a trip will be made to Ireland, before going to the continent and Copenhagen, Denmark, about January 12. Visiting the northern European nations the itinerary is then south through Germany, France to Milan, Italy.

From the quaint Italian port, the trip will be extended on board ship through the Suez canal at Port Said, down the Red Sea to Bombay, India. The long trip from Milan to Bombay will take five weeks. Then Calcutta and a trip to the inland cities of India where the natives have a fanatical rage for burial services, native beliefs and age-old customs.

From Calcutta the route is to the famous port, Singapore, Straits Settlements to Batavia, Java, and then to the Philippines Islands where 40,000,000 people live. Manila, Philippine Islands is next and the Parkers expect to arrive there about April 1.

From the islands they will go to Hong Kong, China, Shanghai and across to Yokohama, Japan, still 5,455 miles from the golden lap home in San Francisco. On the last lap home a stop will be made at Honolulu, Hawaii.

Good old U. S. A. I hope by June 1, 1922, the variations in foreign exchange, now the paramount drawback in international trade, have been solved.

The money of Switzerland and Japan is declared the most stable of any nation outside of the United States.

While the globe girdling trip is being made new production plans at the Parker plant here will be under way for the manufacture of the metal pens and pencils now on the market.

"We expect to increase our business from 30 to 40 percent next year," stated President Parker. "Also, we are going to give preference to our employees to train them in the making of our pencils. We want them to have work."

Artisans are now preparing the "top floor" of the Parker building for installation of the special machines early in January. Two car-loads of automatic tools and equipment, and being shipped here by the express.

In addition the gold pens for assembly work will be made here, so that the entire pen will be made here, as has been in the past.

"The production force of the Parker is to be increased as soon as the machines are ready to start."

Astrakhan Friendly to Yankee Traveller

[An Association of Travelers] Astrakhan, a friendliness to the stranger, especially the American, is the dominant note the traveler finds in passing here. Both the Reds and the Whites, possessed of the hospitable attitude of the Russian, forgot their own miseries long enough to oblige the stranger.

In Astrakhan, the correspondent was taken to a local value. There was no summing before the "Cheka," or police, to examine his papers. On the contrary, a "Cheka" agent made sure that passage was available on an up-river steamer.

The chief steward of the steamer, who carried on a brisk business selling soups and sandwiches to the peasant passengers, turned his kitchen inside out in his anxiety to provide meals for the stranger.

"I haven't had a foreigner for a passenger since the war began," he said.

NEW HAIRDRESSING STYLES

I should like to be able to say that hairdressing styles are becoming simpler, but unfortunately it isn't so. More and more young girls and women are adopting the bobbed hair fashion, so that most of the beauty parlors which do permanent waving now make a specialty of permanently waving short hair. The unfortunate part of this is that short hair has to be cut about once a month so that the wave is being constantly clipped off.

Otherwise the tendency is toward a very sophisticated type of hairdressing. For instance, the hair is pulled back from the face as much as is becoming and drawn to a knot that is quite high in back. This is a type that looks very well on the woman with a well-developed chin. Unfortunately it is a style that makes a woman look a little older.

Hair is being waved more this season than ever before. This too is unfortunate because waved hair makes a woman look older than straight hair. But the waving this year is almost entirely of the "finger" type, short, stiff and artificial waves. The hair is done very loosely indeed. It is far more becoming and far more natural than the old method. If a woman wants to imitate this at home, she can go to by moistening the hair and rolling strands of it around very soft, thick kid curlers.

Fortunately no artificial hair is used. Hairdresses tell me it is the position of the knot, rather than its size, which makes it fashionable.

Paris—The International Sanitary congress, representing more than 40 nations, has adopted the suggestion of the United States Public Health service that plague, yellow fever and cholera be included among the so-called international notifiable diseases.

The suggestion was incorporated in a special provision of a new international sanitary convention drawn up by the congress which has just adjourned in Paris. It was decided that cholera and influenza epidemics should also be a matter of diplomatic notification whenever they occur in the various countries.

The United States was represented at the meeting by Surgeon General Rupert Blue.

VENTILATION OR UNDERTAKER, IS WINTER WARNING

New York—Cold weather "don'ts" of the past have been increased this year with a new one by the ventilation experts. It is that you make sure your garage is properly ventilated or your relatives may have to call an undertaker. Deadly carbon monoxide, a poisonous gas given off by automobile engines in motion, has taken a big toll of human lives in the past in the case of chauffeurs or car owners who failed to realize that working in a poorly ventilated or closed garage with the engine running was really as foolish as "blowing out the light" in the good old days.

New discoveries of the violence of carbon monoxide recently have been made by Professor Yandell Harrison and other engineers working to solve the problem of ventilation for the proposed vehicular tunnel under the Hudson river. Among their tests was to show the effect of the gas on a summary of their observations, with particular reference to garages, appears in The Journal of the American Medical Association.

It showed that if the quantity of carbon monoxide in air did not exceed three parts in 10,000, no physiological effects were produced. Between three and six parts to the 10,000, the effects were hardly perceptible. Above that, headache and nausea were in that, increasing in severity with the rising of the ratio and when it reached 15 to the 10,000, life was in jeopardy.

Motor car owners and operators are warned that an engine which is a foot of the door of a garage when in motion and in three minutes the air in a closed garage is surcharged to a sufficient degree greatly to impair human life. The victim falls unconscious before he realizes he is in peril and death is the outcome unless he is speedily rescued and brought into the open air.

Bishop Scores "Palace" System

London—The bishop of St. Albans complains that his official income of £2,500 a year is "entirely inadequate" to meet the necessary expenses of his office and the upkeep of his "official residence." So the diocese over which he presides has to take out his inadequate official income by giving him an additional £700 a year "to meet secretarial and office expenses" and the cost of running a motor car. The bishop declares the situation to be "scandalous."

"Has not the time come," asked the bishop, addressing the diocesan conference, "when bishops should cease to live in large houses and live in far smaller houses which would provide for entertaining in a simple way, not more than two or three guests at a time? Should not bishops be something like two score of householders and was expected to exercise hospitality on a somewhat commensurate scale. He said that if he

"Only those who have had stomach trouble in a bad form can know what I suffered during all those years. I was almost a nervous wreck, too, and for years I didn't know what it was to get a good sound sleep at night."

"I got new life and energy from each dose of Tania and now I'm a well and happy man instead of a sick and miserable one as I was for so many years. I'll vouch for the merit of Tania at any time."

SUCH COSTUMES HELP MAKE WINTER SPORTS FASCINATING

The knicker suit at the left consists of knickers, a vest and a silk lined cape. There is also a skirt to match it. The conventional costume is required. In the center is a knitted skating costume composed of a white slip-over sweater trimmed with red and white striped knickers. A youthful skirt to match completes the outfit. Black velvet trimmed with rows of white silk braid and a collar of baby lamb makes the luxurious sports suit at the right designed for the very feminine girl.

Work Hard, Eat Properly, Live Long, Says Near-Centenarian

New York.—"One of the most extraordinary men in the world," although he is now on the verge of ninety-nine years of age, Dr. Stephen Smith, who next February 19—no is energetically active and appears to be in such good health that he is likely to live several years more.

Dr. Stephen Smith, founder of the New York and National Boards of Health, created the semi-centennial state board of health.

Well, why shouldn't a man live as long as he likes if he obeys the rules of Dr. Stephen Smith? What is 100 years in the history of this country to a young-looking man who sprang from the soil of this state at about the time the Indians were washing off their war paint, and a buffalo, which came very near falling into Niagara, was recovering from the shock.

As has been remarked, a woman at 100 is in the morning, looks like every other woman. Dr. Smith, at 100, in the evening of his life, is as young as any other man. The Liberty Bell is cracked; there is no such fissure in Dr. Stephen Smith's sound brain.

Dean of Profession.

The medical record says of the dinner at the Hotel Astor in Dr. Smith's honor the other night:

"It was a fitting tribute to this grand old man of the medical fraternity, who in 1871 launched what has grown to be the chief sanitary organization of America. The event was all the more notable because Dr. Smith himself was at the dinner, and he was able to deliver an address in which he touched upon the progress of public health work in New York and the nation at large during the last thirty years."

Dr. Stephen Smith is not only one of the shining lights of New York's medical history but also one of the most noteworthy figures in the history of the world of medicine. His achievements and his record deserve unstinted praise, but interesting and remarkable as these are, the man himself is even more interesting. Judge he is in many respects one of the most extraordinary men in the world.

Today, at ninety-nine, he walks with the elasticity and erectness of a vigorous youth. There is no stoop to his shoulders, no shuffle to his step, seeing his slight, trim, but broad-shouldered figure, which is just above medium, walking along the street—and marching is the word—one would never guess him to be a man near the hundred mark. One would put him down for middle age at best.

"Needless to say, Dr. Smith's mind is on a par with his body. There are no marks of senility about him; he is in no sense an old doctored, but an alert brain worker and student, still doing his part in the world's work. He is a very green, old age and not the traditional grey and yellow leaf.

"He would not be happy if he were not busy at some sort of work, he declares. He says that if he were doing nothing he would run to seed and soon be in his grave. Work, he contends, is the second most essential in the attainment of patriarchal years.

"Your brain cells," he points out, "thrive on stimulation. They must be kept busy, and if your work fails to keep them busy, try something else that will. Anything. Fall in love or develop a hobby. Read the daily papers, especially the exciting events, such as prize fights, ball contests, football games, murder mysteries and even divorces."

Proper Food First.

"But the first essential to the attainment of venerable years," Dr. Smith holds, "is proper food. His doctrine is that a man is as old as he eats, and he is emphatic in declaring that neither fresh air nor physical culture can prolong life to any considerable extent if one persists in eating the wrong foods, or too much food of any kind.

"Walking has always been one of Dr. Smith's favorite forms of physical exercise. Up to about two years ago it was his habit to walk about eight miles a day, but since then he has modified his walking program somewhat. He goes out one, two or three times a day for short walks."

Dr. Stephen Smith, photographed last week.

Italy will be included in the first naval agreement, though it would be purely a courtesy request, for the Italians do not possess naval strength in the Pacific.

The final agreement as at present contemplated would not be a treaty in the technical sense but a "convention," and would have to be ratified by the senate since it is considered President Harding as an "understanding." On the other hand, if it should finally be decided to include some provision requiring the signatory powers to agree not to make war on each other unless a period of nine months shall elapse for investigation of the dispute, then the document would involve "obligations" and would have to be submitted to the senate for ratification.

The latter idea is still only a general suggestion without any final authority back of it, though British, Japanese and French delegates are ready to accept it and have talked it over. "The United States has such an investigation treaty with Great Britain."

MERGE BIG ISSUES OF CONFERENCE IN GENERAL PROGRAM

government had confident assurance that the Anglo-Japanese alliance would not be renewed. Coincidentally, however, the American pressure on the Japanese cabinet to develop a general agreement covering all the points being discussed in the Washington conference was seized upon as the way out. Hence the Japanese are ready to accede to the naval ratification on battleships and a plenary session will be held in a few days to announce that, but the decision reached will not be effective until an agreement has been made on other points.

Agree to All Steps.

The committee for step to the battleship ratio, submarines, the fortification question, and far eastern problems, and later to embody all the separate memoranda into a single agreement covering the whole business. This project was discussed by the principal delegates and has led to the fact that the four-power idea arose quite naturally out of the American mode of procedure in proposing reduction of the navies of Great Britain, Japan and the United States. Then it was determined that since France had forfeited her place in the far east, she too should be included in any plan to reduce the armament in the Pacific. The plan now is to have these four powers sign the memoranda with respect to naval matters, and then submit it for action to the other powers especially concerned with far eastern questions, because one of the cardinal points in the final agreement will be the settlement of Chinese affairs.

Five Power Agreement.

In other words it will start with a four-power or possibly a five-power agreement on armament and will be extended to a nine-power agreement covering all Pacific and far eastern questions. There is a chance that

HISTORIC JEWEL IS HELD TILL FATIMA PAYS HOTEL-BILLS

New York.—"Princess Fatima of Afghanistan" with her three sons, the "Princess" Mohammed Ashim, Aziz and "Akbar" who arrived here early in July, received the freedom of the city from Mayor Hylan, and were the center of attraction for all lovers of the picturesque and bizarre, are just about stranded.

Although their New York visit began with a $28-a-day suite in the Waldorf-Astoria, they are now living in the most modest sort of lodging house on the east side of the city. A good part of their clothing and all their articles of personal adornment are being held at various hotels for non-payment of their bills.

The great diamond which they brought here with them—the "Darya-i-Noor" or "River of Glory"—is in a safe-deposit vault, as security for a loan of $2,000 they obtained the strength of it. And of this $2,000 little if any is left. The Afghanistans family is really up against it. They will have to part with the jewel, a historic heirloom, in order to keep going, they say.

WIDOW SHOWS HOW FARM CAN SUPPORT HER IN HARD TIMES

Stillwater, Minn.—That a living can be made on the farm, even in years of low prices, has been shown by Mrs. Laura Leatherwood, a widow of the Starr community, Adair county, according to George E. Davis, farm demonstration agent for that county.

Mrs. Leatherwood, a cream separator and 150 chickens, Davis says. Her income this year has been: Butter, $101.55; milk, $98; cream, $26.65; chickens sold, $37.75; eggs, $8.50; vegetables, $35.74; strawberries, $11.90; calves, $75; hogs, $50.97; total, $836.45. She bought concentrated foods to the extent of $221, leaving a net profit of $615.45.

The record doesn't include the vegetables, milk, butter and meat she produced and used herself.

ARMY SURGEON PUT TO DEATH IN CHAIR

Richmond, Va.—Dr. Wilmer A. Hadley, former army surgeon and ranchman, was put to death in the electric chair in the state penitentiary early today for the murder of his wife, Mrs. Sue Tinsley Hadley, in November, 1918. Prison attendants declared Hadley went to his death stoically.

on Christmas morning be sure to have a good supply of our extra rich, pure, sanitariously bottled milk. Have enough for his other wants during the day too. He couldn't have a more perfect body and bone building food. Then you'll find our milk makes biscuits, cakes, puddings, etc., much finer because it is so much richer. Better order an extra supply.

SHERIFF USED DUE DILIGENCE, CLAIM

Madison.—Sheriff George Garman of Eau Claire county will not be removed from office on complaint of citizens of the county who charged that he was negligent in guarding prisoners who robbed the State Bank of Augusta, and permitted their escape. Governor Blaine announced today after a thorough investigation of the complaint. John L. Dahl, assemblyman from Barron county acted as a special investigator for Governor Blaine and reported findings from which the governor concludes that the sheriff exercised due diligence.

TO SEE PEN PLAN

SAFE FOILS ROBBERS IN BELOIT POOL HALL

Beloit.—The strength of a safe in the Central billiard rooms saved Joseph Knight, the proprietor, $700. Robbers broke into the hall Wednesday night, but did not succeed in opening the safe. They had to content themselves with about $5 in change in the cash drawer.

FORMER SAMSON MAN NOW IN FLORIDA

M. W. Clay, formerly night chief inspector of the Samson Trust company, writes from Miami, Fla., to the Gazette with his subscription to the paper, saying that he is lost without the home news. He is now connected with a garage at Miami in charge of the wedding department. He drove through from Janesville without a mishap. He notes the meeting of Weston Fish, formerly president of the Bank of Southern Wisconsin, now living there.

Gifts That Gratify

WHEN we give, imbedded deeply in our inner consciousness, is subtle hope that we may divide with the recipient, the gratification of having successfully chosen. We give for the pleasure of giving and for the pleasure of pleasing. Haphazard choosing imperils the issue.

Consider well his tastes, his tendencies, his traits. If your endeavor is to develop his endorsement, buy where he buys—in a store for men—where his preferences are perfectly provided. Here you'll encounter the advantage of greater variety—greatest value.

FAMOUS SISTERS REUNITED ON SCREEN

Lillian and Dorothy Gish, members of one of the screen's most famous families of stars, are now appearing together in a picture after a separation of years. The work of the two sisters, especially that of Lillian in "Way Down East," is well known to movie followers, who are glad to see them together again.

PURDUE HAS HOPES

FOR 1922 GRIDIRON

Lafayette, Ind.—Purdue university will be ready in another year or two to retrieve its lost prestige on the gridiron. This is the opinion of athletic authorities here. Although the number of games won the past season was disappointing, followers of the team were cheered by the fighting spirit, characteristic of Purdue teams of a decade ago, but which has been noticeably absent in recent years.

Although 12 men will be lost to the squad by graduation, there will be a number of veterans back next year, and with the recruits from this year's freshman team it is expected there will be little difficulty in rounding up an experienced eleven. Five of the 12 who will not sheepskins were regulars this year.

Fred Birk is one of the stars who will be lost. Birk, during his three years on the team, has gained fame as a tackle and center. Captain "Zeb" Carman is another regular who will leave. Carman has held down an end position for two years.

Other regulars to go are Ray Miller, end; E. D. Wagner, halfback; and J. E. Meeker, fullback. Some of the second string men played in a number of games and will be keenly missed. They are Bob Watson, E. S. Tate, W. L. Spencer, "Shorty" Macklin, C. L. Israel, J. C. Keppie and C. D. Morrill.

William H. Dietz, who coached the team last season, has not yet been engaged for next year. His work was considered satisfactory by the athletic authorities and it seems certain he will be retained.

LATE DAN HANNA'S FIFTH LOVE WANTS BIG SLICE OF HIS CASH

June Avis Evans.

June Avis Evans is the woman who was named in the blotted marginal notes on the will of the late Dan R. Hanna, millionaire publisher, as his prospective fifth wife. It has been announced by her lawyers that Miss Evans will claim a share of the $10,000,000 Hanna estate. It is their contention that the will left her $25,000 a year.

Take Evans' Triple Phosphate With Meals Gain Several Pounds of Solid Stay-There Flesh

In one month's time EVANS' TRIPLE PHOSPHATES puts on several pounds of solid red blooded flesh and changes your weak, run-down, nervous tired body into a strong, vigorous robust one or money back.

Of course medical men are surprised and many are still unbelievers, but the fact is evident to every up-to-date pharmacist that Evans' Triple Phosphate will produce flesh without violent methods, face creams, daily massage or beauty torture.

To order to assimilate the nourishing food that people daily take into the body and turn it into healthy, red blood corpuscles, the nerves that control the process of digestion and assimilation must be put in first-class

"CORN PONE"

Anyone who has journeyed to the country that revolves about Little Rock, Ark., knows that the editor of the New York Times never ate a piece of "pone" in all his life and that he knows nothing about the technique of its creation. Before one is qualified to speak with authority about the "pone" he must go through an arduous course of training. First and foremost he must be an Arkansawyer, roll his "bristles" up to his knees, sit on a cool bank and wait for "chicken" to rise. But as an adjunct he must have a good cool pipe well filled with long-green. Then he is in a position to observe. Mary Ann as she, wields the hoe on the hillside corn patch.

Through the long, hot summer days he must continue to sit and watch Mary Ann hoe. When the hoe has finished the "grape" the corn is eked and a "turn" is spelt. He then may call old "Back" the family mule, from his favorite place in the shade and take the "turn" to the country mill, some three or four miles away. There he will meet "Reddin" Thompson, Sally Jones's brother, "Zug," "Dabe" Jernon, not guilty of the truth since his first wife to talk Joe Weaver whose principal means of income is running a foot-log across Turkey Creek, and last, but by no means least, "Shag" Henson, sitting on his rump, waiting for his pension claim. These gentlemen know more about the pone after it has been placed upon the table than any other group of men in the whole State of Arkansas.

Some time later, say long about the minute of the evening, the "turn" has been ground and is ready for its journey home. When home is reached it is then to be put for supper, and cold victuals alone are left on the kitchen table.

The following morning is one of blessed sunshine. The birds are filling the heavens with song; and happiness. The air is fresh and bright with the scintillations of a world of dewdrops. It is an ideal time for a starchy porridge for dreams of "pones" to come, and sweet, cool butter, yellow as the tons of gold in the banking houses of New York's plutocrats. Yes, there may be thoughts stealing through the sleeping mind, of butter-milk freshly churned and sunk deep into the spring sparkling from the hillsides.

By and by it is nighttime and the soft voice of Mary Ann comes to awaken the dreaming sleeper with words that should call forth a Lazarus, "chicken" is ready. Do you feel like eating a pone?

All the elemental in man, all the refined, cultivated tastes of the gourmet are set a-tiptoe with anticipation. With the cat a little "Neat" indeed he will. It is only a few steps to the stool at the side of the table where everything is in hand. The pone, piping hot from the oven, covered with butter, red onion, the butter cool and firm, with Mary Ann's finger prints grooved deep on its surface, are near the empty plate. The "chicken" case-knife splits the pone wide open and each almond-shaped half is quickly and thickly spread with the golden butter. In the meantime Mary Ann has poured from an old bucket, still dripping with the ice-cold water from the sparkling spring, a quart cup filled with the most satisfying liquid the brain and palate of man has so far conceived. It will cool the lips of the famished babe, George M. Hughes in Los Angeles Times.

CHARGE WASTE IN HIGHWAY BUILDING. Monroe—Charges that $5,000 on each mile of concrete road constructed in 1920 was wasted, because the contract for the grading and the contract for the concrete work were given to two separate contractors and done at different times, was made by W. C. Miller, Richland Center, who had the concrete work contract. This was the reason he said, that concrete cost Green county $51,000 per mile.

MAY PRESENT CLAIMS.

Madison—Farmers with indemnity claims for infected cattle slaughtered by the state department of agriculture in 1919 and 1920 must present their claims before Jan. 1, the department announces. It says the legislature appropriated $27,000 to meet the claims for which the original appropriation ran short in 1920, and the new appropriation expires Jan. 1.

There's a Gift in Choosing the Gift You Know Some One Else Will Like

WELL, now that December is here, I suppose you've started your Christmas shopping?

You know there is a gift in knowing how to give things that will please the person who gets them. We cannot all have this gift, but we can cultivate it to a great extent. We can put ourselves in the other person's place and wonder, "Now, if I were such-and-such a person with such-and-such a taste, what in the world would I like to have?"

On the other hand, there are times when, if you do this, you will think up something you would just love to have which she wouldn't want to look at twice.

That happens when you and she have very different likes and dislikes.

Then all you can do is hint around, snoop a little here, peek a bit there, and when you do find out what it is that she admires or needs, give her that whether it's something that you would like yourself or not.

For instance, not long ago a nice little person, having found out that her friend was a "movie fan," presented her with a moving-picture magazine to read on the train when she was going away.

Many would have chosen the deeply literary magazine that they themselves were interested in.

Others would have selected a book-ful of short, lively stories. And a great many would have never thought of the gracious act at all, but that's another story.

The important thing is that the nice person chose entirely from some one else's point of view.

And there are only about five or six out of a hundred of us who will do that thing, if, indeed, we even think of it.

So we have much to learn in the science of gift-giving.

Primarily an unselfish act, it should spring from unselfish thoughts and be guided by unselfish methods of choosing.

Yives half Christmas will, for as the one time when they can make their husbands wear the kind of neckties they should wear.

The wife of a blue-eyed man takes the greatest pleasure in presenting him with blue or green or purple ties that show up his eyes.

She knows that out of mere politeness he will have to wear those ties at some time during the year, and she welcomes that as an oasis in a heart-rending desert.

But why will she persist, year after year? She knows that, except when he absolutely has to wear hers, he will go on wearing the gods and yellows that he loves.

Why does a man with light or red hair always admire those brilliantly striped ties that don't harmonize with any part of him and only make him look like a fire-alarm? While a dark-haired man who could stand them prefers "wash-ties."

Much as we wonder about it, the fact remains, and he would be much more pleased with her gift and much happier all year, if she would just choose from his viewpoint instead of her own.

Useless giving. If you lack the gift of choosing the right gift for the right person, you'll have to think hard and do some nice discriminating in order to have your presents really appreciated.

If you're not willing to go to this trouble you may as well send one of your engraved Christmas cards and let it go at that.

FLAG DISPLAY IS SCENIC FEATURE

Significance Seen in Arrangement of Banners at Arms Meet.

Washington.—Interest in the Armistice day display of flags of nations in the limitation of armament conference, and the war department suggestion that these flags should be flown again during the final two weeks of the conference, led to the issuance by the National Geographic society of the following bulletin concerning these emblems:

"The display of flags of the nine participating nations is one of the chief points of scenic interest in the national capital, as well as in other places visited by members of the delegation or wishing to pay honor to the great conclusion of nations now in progress.

"Curiosity first is aroused over the arrangement of the flags, as prescribed by the war department, which arrangement is, from left to right looking from a building toward the street: Portugal, China, Japan, France, Great Britain, United States (center), Great Britain, Italy, Belgium, Netherlands. In addition there seems to be confusion in the case of several nations about which of their flags to display.

"At first glance that order may seem meaningless, but if it is compared to the seating of dinner guests, the reason for the arrangement becomes clear. American, the hostess, is in the center, with two of the major allied powers to the right and two upon the left. The other four nations which were divided because of special interest in problems to be discussed are disposed alphabetically: Belgium to the one side, China to the other, with the Netherlands and Portugal because of the fortunes of the alphabet rather than any distinction of importance, upon each end.

"It is interesting to note that this order was followed punctiliously by the president in his address of welcome to the conference, that is, the British Empire, France, Italy, Japan, Belgium, China, the Netherlands and Portugal.

"A brief description of each flag to be displayed is herewith given. The information therein is from 'Flags of the World,' by Byron McDougal and Gilbert Grosvenor, the authoritative reference work on flags of all nations, in Great Britain's Varon book.

"The national flag of the British empire, the union jack, combines the crosses of St. George, St. Andrew, and St. Patrick. When the union of the kingdoms of England and Scotland took place upon the accession of James VI of Scotland to the English throne as James I, the cross of St. Andrew, the patron saint of Scotland, and the cross of St. George, the patron saint of England, were combined, and all ships were ordered to fly at their masthead the new flag, while at the foremast the English were still to fly the cross of St. George and the Scots the white cross of St. Andrew.

"That St. George's cross was placed over St. Andrew's was distressing to the Scots, who made it the subject of an appeal to the king. After the death of Charles I, the union of Scotland and England was dissolved and the ships of parliament reverted to the use of the single cross of St. George, while those of Scotland took up the cross of St. Andrew again. When Cromwell became protector he restored the union flag, imposing the Irish harp upon its center.

"After the Restoration, Charles II removed the harp, and so the original union flag was revived and continued in that form until 1801, when, upon the legislative union of Great Britain and Ireland, the cross of St. Patrick was incorporated. To combine these crosses without losing the characteristic features of each was not easy. Each had to be distinct and at the same time retain a border which would denote its original ground. To place the cross of St. Patrick on the white cross of St. Andrew would have obliterated the latter, and vice versa. Therefore it was decided to make the white broader on one side of the red than the other. This breaks the continuity of direction of the cross of St. Patrick's cross, but permits the Irish and Scottish crosses to be distinguished from one another.

France's Pannier Tricolor.
"The familiar and inspiring tricolor of France dates from the year that saved the United States its Constitution—1789. The best authorities are doubtful as to the true story of its origin, but there are three principal theories as to the derivation of the combination of colors. The first of these, and the most authentic, is that after the taking of the Bastille, when Lafayette had been appointed by acclamation commander-in-chief of the national guard, he devised for the guard a new ensign made of the white of the royal family and of the colors of Paris, which were and con-

SHE SAYS FOREIGN STUDENTS IN U. S. MAKE FOR PEACE

Miss Louise Holmquist.

Opportunity for international understanding second to none lies in the thousands of foreign students who since the war have poured into our American colleges and institutions from every part of the world. So says Miss Louise Holmquist, head of the student work of the Young Woman's Christian Association, who speaks from a wide experience both here and in Europe with students of all nationalities and tendencies. "These students offer a unique opportunity for friendly relations and a permanent footing for peace," she says.

"NO WONDER WE NEVER GIT NOTHIN' F'R CHRIS'MAS, SIS—SANTA CLAUS IS ONLY A STORE WINDOW DUMMY" time to be red and blue. From this cooked, most historians believe, came the French national flag. Another version links the tricolor with the three historic flags of France—the blue of the Chape de Marie, the red of the Oriflamme, and the white of the Bourbons. The third account of the tricolor's origin is that it is copied from the shield of the Orleans family, as it appeared after the battle of Orléans, the fleur de lis. During the first and second empires, the tricolor became the imperial standard, but in the center of the white stripe was placed the eagle. While all three stripes were richly powdered with the golden bees of the Napoleon family.

Italy's Ensign.
"When Napoleon made the northern provinces of Italy into a kingdom, in 1805, he gave it a flag of three colors—green next to the flagstaff, white in the middle, and red at the fly end. This flag disappeared when Napoleon was overthrown, but was revived when Victor Emmanuel, King of Sardinia and a representative of the house of Savoy, became king. Today Italy's ensign consists of the Savoy arms, surmounted by a crown, on the central white vertical stripe of Napoleon's green, white, and red.

Two Jap Phases Well Known.
"The Japanese ensign consists of a rising sun, slightly to the left of the center of a white field, with rays radiating to all points of the compass. Both the sun and the rays are red, and the device is generally known as the sunburst. Equally familiar, however, is the Japanese merchant flag, which is white, with a rectangular form, with a red sun in the center. Its diameter approximately half the width of the flag.

Standard of Belgium.
"The royal standard of Belgium consists of three vertical bars—black, yellow, and red—with black next to the flagstaff. The national arms are impaled on the middle or yellow bar. The black, yellow, and red of the Belgian flag are the colors of the Duchy of Brabant, and were adopted in 1831, when the monarchy was founded. Belgium's merchant flag, most often seen, is a duplicate of the royal standard, except that the coat-of-arms is omitted.

Flag of Chinese Republic.
"China's national flag, which is also used in the merchant service, consists of five broad horizontal stripes, the uppermost red, the next yellow, the next blue, the next white, and at the bottom black. These colors stand respectively for China, Manchuria, Mongolia, Tibet and Turkestan.

National Flag of Holland.
"The national flag of the Netherlands consists of three horizontal bars, red at the top, blue at the bottom, and white between. At the bottom of the ensign is a small flag of all in one. In the 16th century it was orange, white, and blue, the orange being in honor of William the Silent, Prince of Orange. But four decades of Viceroy and De Reuster were gained under the present colors.

Portuguese Flag.
"The colors of the flag of Portugal are green and red, the third of the two-thirds at the fly end red. The arms of the country are centered on the dividing line between the two colors. These arms consist of a large silver shield upon which are five small blue ones arranged in the form of a cross, each of them bearing five plates of silver. Around the shield is a red border upon which are placed seven golden castles. Alfonso I defeated five Moorish princes in the historic battle of Ourique and adopted the five small blue shields to commemorate the victory. The five white spots on the small shields represent the five wounds of Christ, in whose strength Alfonso believed he had defeated the infidels. The red border of the shield was added by Alphonse III in 1252, after his marriage to a daughter of the King of Castile. The circle of gold, on which the shield and its border are imposed, together with the crown of the flag, which is that of the cross and ribbon of the Knights of St. Benedict or Aviz, commemorate the fame of Prince Henry the Navigator.

HYER TO SPEAK AT CHEEVER MEMORIAL

President, Frank S. Hyer, Waterbury normal, will be one of the speakers at memorial services for Prof. Walter Hewitt Cheever, late vice president of the Milwaukee normal school, at the normal school, Milwaukee, Sunday afternoon. Several Janesville teachers, graduates of the school, may attend.

OHIO WOMAN IS CANDY SCULPTOR

Mrs. Louis Schultz is perhaps the only woman in the United States whose profession is that of a candy artist. For fifteen years she has been fashioning flowers, fruits and other forms out of candy. She has a large position with a Cincinnati confectioner and her unique work makes it possible for her employer to obtain $5 a pound for her confections.

It's Nerve Force from Nuxated Iron

that helps make STRONG, MAGNETIC, FORCEFUL MEN, who make their over-mastering presence felt the moment they enter a room.

contains the principal element, iron, in a form which most nearly resembles that in the brain and nerve cells of man. It also contains arsenic, iron like the iron in your blood and like the iron in spinach, lentils and apples. Organic iron enriches the blood and plows of rich red blood means more nerve force, so that Nuxated Iron not only feeds what must be termed artificial nerve force to the nerve cells, but it stimulates the blood to manufacture a greatly increased supply of new nerve force. If you are weak, nervous or run-down, get a bottle of Nuxated Iron today, and in within two weeks' time you do not feel that it has increased your nerve force and made you feel better and stronger in every way, your money will be refunded. Sold by all druggists.

THE DOCTOR'S DREAM

Last evening I was talking with a doctor, aged and gray. Who told me of a dream he had. "I think 'twas Christmas Day."

While snoozing in his office. The vision came in view. For he saw an angel enter. "Dressed in garments white and new."

Said the angel, "I'm from heaven. The Lord just sent me down. To bring you up to glory. And put on your golden crown."

"You've been a friend to every one. And worked hard night and day. You have decorated many thousands. And from few received your pay."

"So we want you in glory. For you have labored hard and true. And the good Lord is preparing. Your eternal, just reward."

Then the angel and the doctor. Started up toward glory's gate. But when passing close to heaven. The angel murmured, "Wait."

"I have got a place to show you. It's the hottest place in hell. Where the ones who never paid you in torment always dwell."

And behold, the doctor saw there. His old patients by the score. And grabbing up a chair and fan. He wanted nothing more.

But was bound to sit and watch them. As they dazle, sing and burn. And his eyes would rest on doctors. Whichever way he'd turn.

Said the angel, "Come on, doctor. There's the party gates I see. But the doctor only murmured. "This is heaven enough for me."

So refused to go on further. But preferred to sit and gaze. At that crowd of rank and deadheads. As they lay there in the blaze.

But just then the doctor's office clock. Chimed a note of seven. And he awoke to find himself. In neither hell nor heaven.

Local Young Lady Gained Ten Pounds

Declares Truona's Best Medicine Money Can Buy Today.

"I feel safe in recommending Truona as the best medicine money can buy today," says Miss Agnes McQuade, well-known Janesville young woman of 338 Center avenue, Janesville.

"Before I began using Truona," she continued, "my general system had been run down and I'd been suffering severely from rheumatism, especially in my arms, legs and back. At times I couldn't walk a step without pain. After taking many other medicines without relief, I found things different with Truona. This medicine has made me feel just fine. My weight has increased ten pounds. I feel fully 100 per cent stronger and I scarcely notice my former severe rheumatism paining any more, getting around without that old time fear of pain, that I had before. My appetite was never better than it is now. Truona is a medicine that's certainly all and more than is claimed for it."

"Hundreds of bottles of Truona are now being sold everywhere in Janesville at the People's Drug Store, in Edgerton at Atwell & Dallman's, Evansville, Pioneer Drug Store; Delavan, Murphy & O'Neal's; Clinton, A. J. Boden's and all good druggists in surrounding towns."

SCHOOL PUPILS AID POSTAL DEPARTMENT

Pupils of the schools are giving the postoffice department assistance this week in carrying into the homes of Janesville the message of Postmaster General Will Hays in regard to early mailing of Christmas packages. In this way it gets into nearly every home in the city.

The message is being used in conjunction with oral and written work, according to Postmaster J. J. Cunningham.

Attention of the public is called by Postmaster Cunningham to the rule of the postoffice department against placing Christmas seals, adhesive stamps or stickers other than the lawful postage stamps on the address side of mail. The stamps may be placed only on the reverse side.

HI-Y CONVENTION SET FOR SUNDAY

Janesville will send delegates to the Hi-Y conference to be held at Stevensville Sunday, under the direction of J. R. Arnot, county secretary, with the cooperation of the Janesville and Decatur Y. M. C. A. staffs.

EPISCOPALIAN MAY TALK HERE ON IRISH

Plans are being made for a lecture on the Irish people by Rev. Albert W. Allen, prominent Episcopalian minister of Brooklyn, N. Y., here some time next week. It was learned Friday from Dr. M. A. Cunningham, president of the Patrick Pierce Post of the American Association for the Recognition of the Irish, Rev. Mr. Allen was the principal speaker at the McSwinnay memorial meeting held in Milwaukee Oct. 24. His talk on the Irish question carried weight, as it counteracted the fallacy that the Irish question is sectarian, says a report from the national secretary of the association.

$300 FOR RED CROSS RAISED IN COUNTY

Reports from five of 10 branches of the Rock county chapter of the American Red Cross outside of Janesville received by Miss Harriet Alden, secretary, show that $301 has been subscribed for the coming year. $515 and $1100. Junction branches have raised the largest amounts.

Lima Center reports 21 members; Milton, 13; Footville, 33; Johnson-Rock Prairie, 10, and Milton Junction, 103.

Miss Alden has not heard from Edgerton, Evansville, Avalon, Orfordville nor the state school for the blind. Indications are that several hundred more dollars have been raised by these branches. Edgerton has always made a fine showing for the Red Cross.

RAISE FUNDS
Canvassers in the Knights of Pythias solicitation for a fund to care for the needy of the city at Christmas time are P. R. Peterson, S. M. Jacobs, Clarence Moen and Edgar Jersild.
